

CATTLE DEALERS FEELING EFFECTS OF QUARANTINE

They Are Advised Not to Start Shipments to New York Until Further Notice.

STATE IS FREE OF DISEASE

Forest Fires Are Doing Heavy Damage in Lower Shenandoah Valley. Romney Woman Dead of Scarlet Fever, and Eight Children Ill.

WINCHESTER, VA., November 14.—Although no case of the foot and mouth disease, now affecting cattle in a number of States, has been reported in the Shenandoah valley, the two stock dealers are feeling the effects of the quarantine regulations. Ernest M. Hoover, a buyer for one of the largest stock dealing firms in this State, said today that his firm had been advised not to start any shipment for the New York market until further notice. The firm had also received notice of a decline in prices in the Baltimore and other cities. The railroads of Virginia are co-operating with the State and county officials in doing everything possible to keep the disease out of this State, and all cattle brought in, particularly shipments from the West, are being examined. All the live stock cars on each railroad are being fumigated in accordance with orders sent out this week. The chief industries in some of the counties of the upper Virginia valley, and in Highland County in particular, many thousands of cattle are kept in the mountains for the market. The disease would cause enormous losses to many classes of people, directly or indirectly, should it find its way into Virginia, is generally admitted, and nothing is being left undone or neglected to keep it out of the State entirely.

FOREST FIRES DOING CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

Forest fires continuing to do considerable damage in the lower Shenandoah valley and adjoining portions of West Virginia, and the volunteer fire brigades organized last summer by the government agents in charge of the forest reserves in the Blue Ridge, Massanutten and Great North Mountain have been kept busy fighting the flames ever since the hunting season opened on November 1. Many of the fires have been caused by hunters dropping matches or smoking tobacco, and traction engines are also responsible for some of the mountain conflagrations. A large force of men worked day and night for two days early in the week before they got an angry blaze under control along the base of North Mountain, in the western section of Frederickburg County. At the same time, another serious fire broke out in the Rock Eden Springs section of the county, near the lumber establishment of F. D. Goode, but the plant finally was saved. Many of the cottages owned or leased by Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia people at Skyland, Page County, narrowly escaped destruction a day or two ago, when fires that had been raging for some time in the mountains found their way to the Skyland neighborhood. Residents of that section battled night and day with the flames before the fires were extinguished. Large boulders have been loosened along the mountain slopes in the Harper's Ferry locality, and many have rolled down upon the turnpikes and then into the rivers without a moment's warning. Numerous motorists and others traveling along the roads at the foot of the mountains have had some decidedly thrilling and exciting experiences. A few days ago a rock larger than an ordinary hoghead tumbled down on the Virginia side of the river at Harper's Ferry just as a man drove by in a car. The great stone struck the back part of the vehicle, demolishing it, while the driver leaped for his life and escaped serious injury.

CUPID NEARLY HALKED

Eugene Ernest Cizel, formerly of Clarke County, but now engaged in contracting work in Washington, and Miss Lela May Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Mason, of Winchester, were married here a day or two ago, but not with as much ease as they had anticipated. It was the intention to be married by the bride's pastor, but he was not at home when they called, so they went to another parsonage, only to be told that the pastor was out. They had engaged chairs in a Pullman car attached to a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train leaving here at noon, and Contractor Cizel was confident they could find the third minister at home, but he, like the other two, was also out. Finally, but almost in despair, they made their way to the parsonage of the First Christian Church, and they were actually surprised when told that Rev. William T. Walters, the pastor, was ready to serve them. It was then too late to catch the train for which they had bought tickets, so the afternoon was whittled away, and as the shades of evening fell, the bride and groom left for Washington on another train, which, incidentally, was nearly one hour late.

Mrs. Nancy Pugh Amick, forty years old, wife of William H. Amick, died this week at her home at Romney, Hampshire County, W. Va., from scarlet fever, and eight of her ten surviving children are ill of the same disease. It is feared several of the little ones will not recover. She was a daughter of the late Smith J. Pugh, of Gore, this county, and in addition to her husband and children, she leaves her mother, two brothers and six sisters. The outbreak of scarlet fever occurred at the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind at Romney, and it spread quite rapidly before the quarantine was made effective. Several other deaths have occurred recently.

Ruth P. Sowers, a wealthy farmer and stockman of Clarke County, is slowly improving at his home, Federal Hill, near White Post, from the effects of an automobile accident the early part of the week, when he was caught under his car, which upset while an effort was being made to turn it in a narrow road. Mr. Sowers suffered great pain and lay unconscious several days, his physician and family fearing he would not recover. He has since, however, improved, and it is now thought he will get well.

J. Edward Keating, who is not yet thirty years old, and earned his first dollar by selling newspapers on the streets of Winchester, his native town, was recently elected judge of one of the California courts at San Diego, receiving a majority of 2,000 votes over four opponents. The young man also made a record some years ago at a law college in Tennessee by graduating at the expiration of his first year at that institution.

POSTMASTER MUST REMIT GOVERNMENT

Because he left the key to the combination of his iron safe where robbers found it without difficulty, the numbers being written on a shipping tag and laid in a desk drawer, Postmaster J. A. Riddle, of Bridgeport, Rockingham, Va., has been required by the government to reimburse it to the extent of about $2,000, that being the value of stamps and cash taken by burglars a year ago. A similar case occurred some years ago at Front Royal, Va., when a postmaster failed to lock the inner compartment of his safe, and the burglars had no trouble after blowing off the outer door.

It is expected that quite a large number of distinguished prelates of the Protestant Episcopal Church from various sections of the United States, and particularly the South, will gather at Berryville in the near future for the dedication of St. Mary's Church, which will be dedicated as a memorial to those old-time colored women of the South who remained true and faithful to the families of their masters while the men of the Southern households were in the Confederate army. The movement to erect such a church was started rather quietly several years ago, and contributions were received from a great many men and women of prominence in the Episcopal Church. St. Mary's Church is said to be the only one of the kind in the country.

The eighth annual convention of the Frederick County Anti-Saloon League held here to-day, resolved itself into a great lovefeast and justification meeting, as it was the first gathering since the liquor traffic was voted out of the State in September. The principal address was made by Rev. J. D. McAllister, of Richmond, the State secretary, who told all about the big fight for State-wide prohibition. Charles E. Cleveland was re-elected president.

Rather than sell their fancy apples at prices offered by buyers from the South, House Brothers, of Jefferson County, who are among the leaders in the fruit industry in the lower Shenandoah Valley, have stored 14,000 barrels of apples of unusually fine quality in their private cold storage plant, and are confident they will get much better prices as the season advances. Many of the largest growers of the Winchester fruit belt have stored their best varieties. Reports received by cable and also by letter from Liverpool, Manchester, Glasgow and other British markets show that the fruit from the Winchester section is in great demand in England, and is bringing good prices.

Relatives and intimate friends were greatly shocked at Charlottesville yesterday when it was discovered that Mrs. S. M. Ott, wife of a prominent merchant of that place, had committed suicide by drowning herself in a cistern on their premises. No cause for her act is known. The discovery was made by Mr. Ott when he went home for dinner. She was forty-one years old, and was formerly Miss Eddy, of Hallowell. Her husband and one child survive.

Three families of hard-working men were made homeless at Bunker Hill, Berkeley County, yesterday, when fire destroyed the houses of W. E. Rogers, Milton Custer and Robert Bain. The houses were owned by J. E. Baker, and were insured, but the occupants had no insurance, and they lost nearly all of their belongings.

WRIT OF ELECTION ISSUED

Sussex and Greenesville Counties to Vote for Legislator.

Governor Stuart last night issued a writ for a special election in Sussex and Greenesville Counties, to be held on Tuesday, January 5, to fill the vacancy in the House of Delegates caused by the death of R. B. Hartley, who was killed recently in a railway accident. The election will be for the unexpired term, and will be in time for the new member to take his seat in the special tax session called for January 13. Under the primary law the party authorities will have the option of shortening the time in the event that a primary is desired, or of making a nomination in some other way. It has been reported that Thomas H. Howerton, a former member of the House of Delegates from this district, may be a candidate.

ANNUAL CONVENTION ENDS

San Francisco Chosen Over Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky., as Next Meeting Place—Loving Cup for President-General.

SAVANNAH, GA., November 14.—With the selection of San Francisco as the place for the holding of the 1915 meeting, the twenty-first annual general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy ended here late to-day.

The California city was selected over Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville, Ky. The date for next year's convention has not been set.

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, the president-general, was presented with a silver loving cup by Mrs. Virginia Saunders Seales, of Mississippi, on behalf of the pages of the convention.

The report of the committee on a home for needy Confederate women recommended that a committee be formed to carry on work along the lines of the Confederate Memorial Association towards the endowment of a home for needy Southern women, preferably to be located at Montgomery, Ala.

After the rejection of this recommendation, the President-general made a plea for relief work, as did Mrs. A. J. Montague, of Richmond, and of Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the Secretary of the Navy. The convention then adjourned the work being done by the Home for Confederate Women at Richmond and the Southern Relief Association in Washington.

Mrs. Frank Anthony Walke, of Norfolk, urged the daughters to use their influence with their representatives in Congress to have erected a monument to Mathew Fontaine Maury, "the pathfinder of the sea." The government has purchased a site for this purpose at Cape Henry, Va.

FURTHER BROADEN SCOPE OF LEGISLATIVE WORK

Suffrage Association for Federal Statute Giving Women Right to Vote for Certain Officials.

LIES IN POWER OF CONGRESS

Results of Primary Show That in Election on Monday There Will Be Contest Only for Three Offices. Dr. Anna Shaw Unopposed.

NASHVILLE, TENN., November 14.—Further broadening of the scope of legislative work of the National American Woman Suffrage Association for the coming year was decided upon to-day, when the convention of the organization here adopted a resolution in directing its congressional committee to work for a Federal statute giving women in all States the right to vote for members of Congress, United States Senators and presidential electors.

The delegates claimed that Congress has the power to pass a law permitting women to vote for the officials mentioned under that clause of the fourteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says:

"No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States."

The convention passed an amendment to the constitution to limit the tenure of office of the president to two consecutive years, and defeated an amendment which would have denied a place on the national board to any salaried official of the association. It was declared to be the sense of the convention that the executive secretary shall not be a member of the board.

At the mass-meeting to-night addressess on State and national campaigns were delivered by leaders in the suffrage movement from various parts of the country. Among the speakers were Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, of Massachusetts; Mrs. Antonette Funk, of Chicago; Mrs. Raymond Brown, of New York; Miss Hannah Patterson, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Maud Wood Bark, of Boston.

The results of the primary held by the delegates to-day showed that in the election next Monday there will be contests for only three of the offices in the national association. The unopposed candidates are: President, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, New York; second vice-president, Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, Kentucky; third vice-president, Miss Katherine B. Davis, New York; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Otten H. Clark, Michigan; treasurer, Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, Connecticut; first auditor, Mrs. Helen Guthrie Miller, Missouri. The candidates who have opposition and the vote each received in the primary to-day are:

First vice-president—Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick, New York, 177; Miss Jean Gordon, Louisiana, 108. Recording secretary, Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, New York, 197; Mrs. Anne Martin, Nevada, 93.

Second Auditor—Mrs. Medill McCormick, Illinois, 126; Miss Zona Gale, Wisconsin, 121.

Freight Steamer Disabled.

PORT ARTHUR, ONT., November 14.—The United States freight steamer Onoko is reported disabled twelve miles outside Passaic Island in the open lake with a forty-mile gale blowing. The tug Whelan has gone to her assistance. The Onoko is a 35-foot boat, owned at Willowburg, O., and built in 1882.

Next Meeting Places Chosen.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., November 14.—The Southern Textile Association to-day selected Asheville, N. C., for the summer meeting in June, and Greenville, S. C., for the fall meeting in November next year.

SALTS IS FINE FOR KIDNEYS, QUIT MEAT

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back Hurts or Bladder bothers.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid, which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidney.

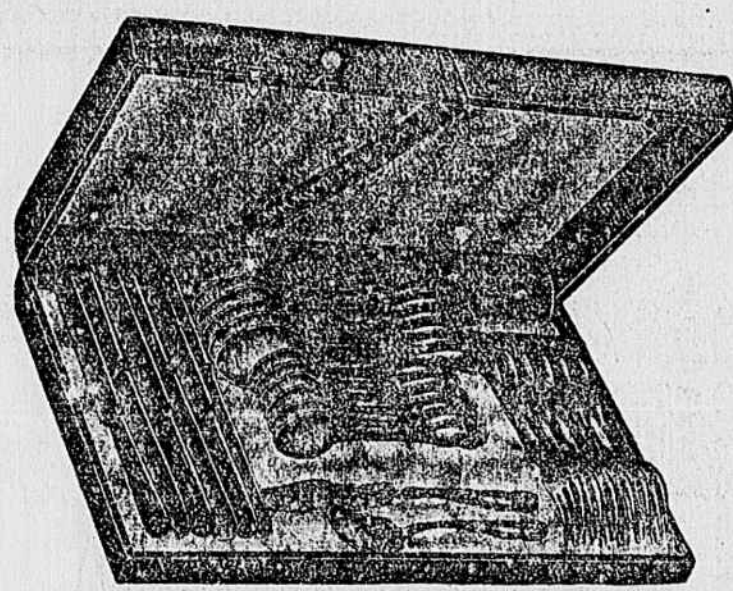

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.
